

Are you tomorrow proof?

At the University of Montana, we believe the most valuable tool we can give you is the ability to reinvent yourself again and again so you are prepared, not just for your first job, but your fourth, fifth and sixth. Here you will learn, not in silos, but across boundaries, collaborating just as you will need to in all the worlds beyond college. Here you will develop grit and perseverance, because this place cultivates it, and the future demands it. And from here, you will take with you what you need to move with confidence and aplomb, with diamond-like resilience – in a world that looks different next week, next month, next year. We call this tomorrow proofing. And it's what we do. Come be a part of it, Griz.
